Sarah Blandy, Susan Bright : Researching Property Law before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Researching Property Law:

For those embarking on or engaged in property law research, this is a unique resource which includes contributions from twelve international scholars who each analyse a different research approach, addressing its value, associated methodology and the challenges involved in pursuing it.

'By offering cogent explanations by leading practitioners of a broad range of scholarly approaches, this book splendidly explains why property law scholars ask the questions we ask.' - Rashmi Dyal-Chand, Professor of Law and Research Director, Northeastern University, USA 'This book is a unique, accessible and informative resource demonstrating the rich variety of modern property scholarship. It should be read by all those embarking on or engaged in property research.' - Nicholas Hopkins, Professor of Law, University of Reading, UK
